HOW CLUB STARTED

PAPER READ BY MRS. PHILIP PARKER AT TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

Madam President;• Ladies—This review of the beginning of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale is so simple a story that it is of interest only in connection with subsequent developments.

Let me picture Glendale eighteen years ago. A community of about 300 people, with Glendale avenue and Third street its center. No gas or electric lights, e'ectric irons or electric cars. Not too much water; only three blocks of cement sidewalk; no private telephones, automobiles, jitneys, movies, high school or library.

There was one store, one church, a livery barn, a blacksmith shop and a meat market, and friend of the horseless, the old "Dimmy" by which one could keep in touch with the outside world if one cared to.

There were homes, fathers and mothers and children, and even at that date Glendale had a charm all her own. There are those who look back with gratitude to the simple life in which, on tiny incomes, many comforts and pleasures were enjoyed. Among those who shared these blessings were two women, widows, one with two little girls, the other with three little girls. They were next door neighbors and good friends. Though their neighbors were kindly, thoughtful and courteous, it was rarely possible for them to attend the social features of that time, for these entertainments took place in the evening. These two women wished there were some way in which they might meet other women socially and often wondered what they could do to meet this seeming need.

A lovely woman whom some of you remember, Mrs. Stearns, an active member of Los Angeles c'ubs, whose home was in Glenda'e, said to one of these two, "Why don't your younger ladies of Glendale form a Woman's club? I am sure there is material here to warrant success; it only needs some one to start it."

The courage to form a club seemed to be lacking. As a compromise it was decided to try the afternoon tea party idea. As this innovation seemed to require a reason an approaching birthday was selected as the occasion for the first (as these two schemers hoped) of a series of afternoon affairs. The date was January 9, 1898. The place was a little home on B street. Eleven ladies were invited, ten accepted and there were present Mrs. Charles Bogue, Mrs. Julia White, Mrs. Joseph Banker, Mrs. Wm. Doloff, Mrs. John Holland, Miss Judson Harris, Mrs. Edith Nourse, Mrs. Edward Hollenbeck, Mrs. John Hobbs, Mrs. Lew Wardell, Mrs. Mittie Duncan.

The refreshments were tea, sandwiches, cake and candy.

Though no special form of entertainment had been planned, the afternoon proved thoroughly enjoyable. The other schemer, Mrs. Edith Morse then and there invited the ladies to her home for the following Tuesday afternoon two weeks later.

Again the invitation was accepted by all present. This afternoon proved so happy that one of the unsuspecting victims of such cheerful hospitality proposed that the other ladies follow suit. They readily assented and Mrs. Bogue or Mrs. Banker being nearest the head of the alphabet, was the next hostess and so around and again around the circle the tea passed until these affairs became a habit. The number was limited to twelve and as all the ladies were busy home makers simplicity of entertainment was strictly followed. When one dropped out there was a name proposed for the place. It soon became necessary to have a rule to meet the comments of the young ladies, for, hearing of the good times, they said such exclusiveness was selfish and hard hearted. This rule was to be married or 35 years old. In the meantime Glendale was growing slowly and as there was no wish to be exclusive, selfish or hard hearted the number was increased to 18, then to 28. So far these affairs had not been taken so seriously as to warrant the term, "A woman's club" by those who attended, but the good impression made by a few afternoon receptions and evenings when the gentlemen were entertained together with the quiet persistence which held the group together, gained the respect of the community and won for the ladies the name, "The Tuesday Afternoon club."

For three years the club met without an officer of any kind or a by-law of any description. A few good

HONOR BRIDES-ELECT

MISS ELLA LEE HERBERT AND MISS LORRAINE HOLLEMAN GUESTS AT CHARMING PARTY

Mrs. Joseph Kendall Williams of 900 North Brand boulevard gave a pretty tea and handkerchief shower Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 10, at her attractive home in compliment to Miss Ella Lee Herbert and Miss Lorraine Holleman, two popular brides-elect of the season. The rooms given over to the affair were beautifully decorated with a profusion of the season's most favorite blossoms, together with fluffy tulle ribbons, in pastel shades, and ferns. During the afternoon a conundrum contest provided much merriment, after which an elaborate collation was served by the charming hostess, who presented the shower to each bride-elect hidden in a flower basket tied with pink ribmons. Miss Lucy and Mattie Butler of Millersburg, Kentucky, cousins of Mrs. Williams, shared honors of the afternoon and after the contest sang several solos, accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Savage. Beside the four honorees guests for the afternoon were Mesdames Fletcher Barker, E. F. Nance, Egbert F. Whiting, Earl Cline, Richard Thompson Webb and the Misses Virginia Judge, Sadie Taylor, Reon Herbert, Lily Hill, Ruth Savage, Beulah Offutt, Martha Savage, Fanny Mitchell, Louise Royal, Isabel Douglas, Mildred Egybroad and Clara Steveson.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB PRESIDENTS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA MEET

Tuesday, the 9th, was presidents' Reciprocity Day in Los Angeles, receiving all presidents of Southern California's federated clubs. Glendale was well represented and decidedly in the foreground, as nearly all the talent appearing came from our "Jewel City." Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the local Tuesday Afternoon club sent Dr. Jessie Russell as her representative.

Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan had charge of the greater portion of the program and beside giving original readings in her usual charming manner, a pupil of her school of dancing, Miss Dorothy Bonnell, appeared in pantomime work and Grecian poses which was most creditable to this rising young artist. Miss Lillian Mason, a wee girl of ten and truly a genius of pianoforte, amazed her audience with the compositions she gave, and Mrs. Myott, treasurer of the Los Angeles Tuesday Afternoon club, charmed her listeners with vocal selections. Presidents of many of the clubs present have engaged Mrs. Sloan and her talented pupils to appear in their cities before the home clubs, the first engagement to be filled at Long Beach.

DEATH FROM DIPHTHERIA

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hoit, 318 S. Adams street, are extending to them and their family the sincerest sympathy and what practical help they can give in their present sad bereavement. Their little daughter Doris Hoit, aged ten, who was beloved by all who knew her, died Wednesday night, at her home, after a brief illness. The case was one of diphtheria and it appears to be an isolated case. The house and family are quarantined and the neighbors and friends of the family are doing what is necessary under the circumstances. The funeral will be a quiet affair tomorrow at Forest Lawn cemetery. There will be no service at the house and only a brief committal service at the grave, by the Rev. W. E. Edmonds. The funeral is in the hands of the Jewel City Undertaking company.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Happily surprised was Mrs. O. H. Jones of 118 Cedar street, on the afternoon of November ninth, when several friends called unannounced to help celebrate her birthday. As many cut flowers always adorn this attractive home there was no need for the hostesses of the afternoon to arrange decorations, as early in the day, roses, carnations and chrysanthemums had been artistically placed by Mrs. Jones, as is her daily custom. After birthday greetings had been extended to the honoree a delightful musical program was given by Mr. Cecil Crandall, assisted by Miss Dorothy Lee, this being followed by conversation and needle plying. Those partaking of the dainty refreshments served were: Mesdames O. H. Jones, Ed M. Lee, Daniel Dewar, C. D. Lusby, William Lee, W. B. Crocker, Hartley, Emery and Ambrewster.

FREE FROM CANKER

H. A. McELROY SAYS SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA IS FORTUNATELY UNTOUCHED BY THIS CITRUS PEST

Anything that affects the citrus crop anywhere cannot fail to be of profound interest to Southern California, where so much acreage is under this crop. Oranges and lemons are suffering just at present from the recent changes in the tariff which have brought in the cheap European fruit to compete with the native product on more than equal terms and it would be a very serious matter if such a disease as the citrus canker should be added to the other difficulties of the citrus growers.

Mr. H. A. McElroy of Kelley & McElroy, nurserymen, Brand boulevard, Glendale, speaking to a representative of The Glendale Evening News, said: "Southern California has trouble with scale and other citrus diseases; but up to this point it has known nothing of the citrus canker. I notice that at present there is quite a serious condition in Florida on account of this disease.

"Being in Florida and other southern states it is like an epidemic of cholera or bubonic plague—nothing but constant vigilance can prevent its being brought in here. Fortunately the state department, through its agricultural department, has put an absolute embargo on the introduction of orange trees from the infected states and where seed is brought in it must first be thoroughly disinfected.

Up to the present these precautions have been sufficient to preserve the California citrus crop from the introduction of this fell disease. The disease came from Japan. It got through the United States in a shipment of nursery stock to Texas. From Texas it got to Florida in some seedlings and today it is prevalent in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

"Despite minute and constant research no cure has been found for this disease. It can be seen how careful people should be against it. Like the zymotic epidemics mentioned it can only be kept out by constant outlook and quarantine. This disease thrives in spite of spraying with the strongest Bordeaux mixture. The only method found up to this point by which it can be stopped in any region is by destroying the trees with fire. Trees have been cut back to the trunk and then painted with a strong fungicide or germicide, but the disease appeared in the new growth. In the work of pruning the disease was spread by means of the tools, hands and clothing of the workmen.

"With gigantic oil sprays on the principle of a blow torch the infected trees were burned down and the ground sterilized. This stopped the infection from each tree thus treated, but the process was too expensive and difficult. It is pitiable to read of what the people of Florida have done to fight this terrible pest. Citrus growers have mortgaged their houses to get money to contribute to financing the fight. Others have divided their property, selling one-half to save the other. Six hundred thousand nursery trees in one county alone have been destroyed—some properties entirely effaced from existence. Thousands and thousands of grove trees have been burned to the ground. The property loss to date amounts to millions of dollars.

"No one can fail to realize what a blow it would be to California if this disease should ever gain entry to the state. The infection is subtile and cannot be detected until it has gone so far that the fight against it is almost hopeless. From two small infections, one in the north and the other in the south of Florida, the disease has swept that state. It is no longer a state problem. It is a problem for the United States. Meantime California will continue her fight against the introduction of the disease into this state. That would mean ruin."

SECOND OFFENSE

Nemesis seems to follow the doings of certain members of the Gastelum family, 1553 Ivy street. The other day a member of this family was fined in Judge Whomes court for disturbing the peace during the early hours of a quiet Glendale Sunday morning. Wednesday, in the same court, Mateo Gastelum, 1553 Ivy street, was charged with being in a state of intoxication on the public street. He was arrested by Patrolman Hollenbeck at Third and Glendale. He had apparently well fortified himself against any aridness that might prevail in Glendale for his pockets were furnished with an ample supply of liquor. Judge Whomes fined him $10.

PLANS COMPLETED

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB MUSIC SECTION TO COMPLETE PLANS FOR CONCERT

It is the intention of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club to make the coming charity concert one of the most successful as well as one of the most interesting ever given in Glendale. The society has been fortunate in securing the services of Signor Constantino, the famous tenor, who will give his services free on this occasion. Constantino has an international reputation and the securing of so prominent an artist should guarantee the success of the concert.

At the next meeting of the music section, which will be held at the home of the curator, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, 1223 West Seventh street, Friday afternoon, Nov. 12, at 2:30 o'clock, plans will be discussed for assuring the complete success of this charitable function. It is specially requested that every member be present and lend her aid to the arrangements.

At the Friday meeting Mrs. Bessie Bartlett Frankel, music curator of the Hollywood Woman's club, will be the guest of honor. A very pleasing American program has been prepared and the section will find pleasure and profit in the works of a native composer. The afternoon will be devoted to the Life and Works of Edward McDowell, who has done so much for American music. Following is the program:

Paper, "The Life of Edward McDowell," Mrs. Eva J. Cunningham.

Vocal—"Long Ago," "Merry Maiden Spring," Mrs. Calvin Whiting.

Piano—"To a Water Lily," "Scotch Poem," Mrs. Vivian Webb.

Vocal—"The Gloaming Shadows Creep," "A Maid Sings Light," Mrs. Calvin Whiting.

Piano—"The Witches' Dance," Mrs. Vivian Webb.

Violin—"To a Wild Rose," Miss Frances Payne.

Piano—"Polonaise," Mrs. Vivian Webb.

Accompanist, Mrs. Edna Adell.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY

What was undoubtedly a case of attempted burglary is being investigated by the Glendale police. On the complaint of Mrs. Delgardo, 906 Lomita avenue, Patrolman Arrington examined the premises at that address and discovered a new cap and a pocket knife with a dime sticking in the blade opening, close to a window that had been forced open. From the size of the cap it is conjectured that it belongs to a boy who had forced open the window with the intention of robbing the house. He appears to have merely got in and to have been close to the window when some noise frightened him. Apparently he was a novice at his nefarious undertaking for he dropped his hat and the knife in his haste and dared not return to get them.

There have been several alarms of this kind recently. The Broadway school was broken into the other night by a boy, who had a very lame excuse to make for his presence there. That and other cases are being carefully investigated by the police.

ON WRONG TRACK

City Manager Watson and Public Service Manager Lynch complained to the police department the other day that the Pacific Electric and Montrose cars had been running on the wrong track on Broadway. They asked the police to put a stop to the practice, which could not fail to be dangerous to both life and property. The officials of the Pacific Electric railway and also of the Glendale-Montrose railway acknowledged that some of their trains had been shunted on the wrong track, occasionally. They explained, however, that this was not a practice and that it had only been done for the matter of half a block from the switch in front of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company's office to Brand boulevard, in order to permit other cars to get out. The police warned them to stop the practice.

MAUD GALIGHER TO SPEAK

What is likely to prove a most interesting lecture will be given by Maud Galigher, in Miss Ruby Dale's studio, 1307½ Hawthorne street, Saturday, Nov. 14, at 3 p. m. The subject is one with which the accomplished lecturer is familiar, "Suggestion as Applied to the Training of Children." This is the second in a series of lectures that has been arranged to be given in Miss Dale's studio. The next lecture will be by Mrs. Charles Toll. The date will be announced later. The public is invited.

NATURE STUDY FOR CHILDREN

No principle of modern education will stand the test of time better than that which declares that children learn most easily and may learn almost entirely by the exercise of their own faculties. Grown-up people learn from books with great ease; but many children who have wonderful powers of observation and never overlook a single trait or distinctive mark of the external world in which they live cannot learn easily from books.

It is nearly the same with adults. What we see for ourselves we know far better than anything we have learned out of a book concerning a country. In fact the ideas a large majority of people have of other countries is merely a mass of prejudices and misinformation. How little the reality corresponds to the idea is often revealed in the educative result of travel and the complete change in point of view which almost every traveler acquires.

What one sees for oneself is of far more value than all that we can read about it. In this respect personal knowledge is like that knowledge of which Locke in his "Essay on the Human Understanding" said: "When we reason out a thing by our own understanding we gain a something that abides with us." There is nothing like concreteness. Concreteness is essential to clearcut ideas for adults. It is equally necessary for clearcut ideas for children.

The child follows the course of his ancestry both in physical and mental development. A few centuries ago the ancestors of the human race were educating their brains by using implements of stone, wood and iron; by using their senses to apprehend danger, to discriminate between plants and animals that were useful or hurtful to them. Civilization has gradually won through this maze of experience. The hand, the eye, the ear have become trained. The brain has increased in size and in perceptive qualities, and the foundation laid for the acquisition of all the world's present knowledge. In like manner the child's brain responds to the stimulus or impressions from the senses and specially to the physical effort made in walking, playing, working, collecting and gardening.

Here is where we find that the study of nature will cultivate habits of observation and discrimination which will sharpen the wits in any line of work the child may take up. The effort to see things accurately will give him a love for truth—one of the greatest benefits education can bestow.

THE HIGHLAND CATTLE'S PILGRIMAGE

"The island of Bernera, which is separated from Lewis by Loch Roag, made famous by Black's 'Princess of Thule,' is inhabited by a large number of crofters who have a considerable stock of cattle," so we read in the Westminster Gazette. "The summer grazings and sheilings pertaining to Bernera are situated in Lewis and can only be reached by crossing Loch Roag, which is often difficu't, even in summer time. Early in June, according to a Scotsman contributor, the Bernera cattle, numbering several hundreds, gather together, swim to the Lewis shore and proceed to their grazings on the moors, where they remain for about two months. When the time comes for their return to Bernera, the cattle, of their own accord, swim back, and it is no easy matter restraining them from attempting the loch at high tide rather than at low water, when their passage may be more easily and safely accomplished. This large sea loch is noted for its strong currents, but these Highland cattle are sturdy and powerful swimmers."

TROPICO

The Norton Art club held a most interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Samuel A. Ayres on North Central avenue, Monday afternoon. Mrs. Chapman, presiding, outlined the work for the coming year, which begins with the study of Greece and Grecian art. Mrs. Ayres read a paper giving an interesting description of Greece. Mrs. Frank Ashton on Thessaly and Mrs. Percy Priaulx and Miss Elsie Anderson had the islands of Crete and Corfu as their subjects. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Samuel A. Ayres, Monday, Nov. 15. Mrs. Priaulx, who has but recently returned from the Panama-Pacific Exposition, at San Francisco, gave a review of some of the masterpieces which are being exhibited in the Fine Arts building at the exposition.

Mrs. Frank I. Marsh of North Central avenue has returned from a ten days' visit to Mr. and Mrs. David Wyckoff in Burbank.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Poland of Lyons, Kansas, who have been visiting the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, are the guests of their cousins, Mrs. David H. Imler and Miss Cora Hickman, at Palm Villa. Later Mr. and Mrs. Poland will visit in San Diego.

Tropico is at present receiving a due amount of attention from the outside world; all eyes are turned Tropicoward, and each event scheduled for the great second annual road race, for Thanksgiving day, is watched and heralded with the keenest interest. There are many entries for the three events, motorcycle, juvenile and free for all. The program is to be in charge of Miss Anita King, the Lasky Paramount girl, who bears the proud distinction of having crossed the continent in her Kissel car. This distinguished actress will start the auto races.

Owing to the absence of the dramatic critic of Tropico, the critique of the play given in G. A. R. hall Wednesday evening will appear in a later edition.

BANK OF GLENDALE

The Bank of Glendale is using in its accounting department a Burroughs' statement machine. Citizens of Glendale are invited to call at the bank at the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue and witness this machine being operated. A full description of the Burroughs' statement machine is published on page three of this issue.

G. U. H. S. NOTES

Seniors Win

This year the interclass basketball matches have revealed some especially fine p'ayers. The Scrubs have given a better fight than they have in previous years. This has made all the games more snappy and full of vim. Last Friday afternoon the best game so far in the season was played off, the Seniors vs. the Scrubs. The lineup was as follows:

Seniors—Shea, Phillips, Brown, Powers, forwards; Lukins, center; Stickney, Francy, Renshaw, Garrott, Beach, guards.

Freshmen—Stokes, Fansett, forwards; Williams, center; T. McIver, W. McIver, guards.

Mr. Joy was referee.

The game was started on the outside court, but after just two minutes it started raining so hard that the court in the gym had to be used for the rest of the game. Both teams played fine basketball and interest did not lag for one moment. Tom McIver, the freshman captain, played a splendid game. He is a very steady player and uses his head every minute. "Nemo" Powers on the Senior team also player excellent basketball. "Nemo" is a quick and heady player. The Scrubs were defeated by the score of 30 to 15. So far in the season five games have been played. In the Freshmen-Soph game, the Freshmen won. In the Freshmen-Junior game the Juniors won. In the Soph-Junior game the Juniors won. In the Soph-Senior game the Seniors won and in the Freshmen-Senior game the Seniors won. It remains to be seen who will win in the Senior-Junior game. Of course both classes are anticipating victory.

Executive Committee

Next week a special election will be held to elect a vice president of the Student body and to fill the vacant places on the executive committee. The presidents and secretaries of the different classes met last week and nominated the following people for the offices. For vice president, Herbert Scheuner was nominated. For the executive committee Margaret Gregg, Chauncey Kolts, Paul Williams, Ed. Seay and Clyde Brooks were nominated. A petition was signed later for William Bode. J. T. Beach and Mildred Wight are the only two members of the executive committee at present. All the nominees for office are splendid workers and it is expected that after the election we shall have a committee with 100% efficiency. For the past few years the executive committee has not had the entire support of the students. It has naturally been a rather discouraging proposition for the members of the committee to carry out the duties of their office. It is now being realized that student government cannot be carried on efficiently when such an important factor as the executive committee is not in good working order. It does no good to spend time passing bills, if, when they are made laws they are not properly executed. All this is being quickly remedied however and at the end of the year we expect to have an ideal form of student government.

AT REST

IN MEMORY OF MY WIFE

The pain that destroyed
The frail little form
Has vanished away
Like a hard winter's storm;
The work worn hands
Lie white on her breast,
At last they are idle,
For now she's at rest.

Scarce more than a child,
I found her at bay
Amid the bread earners,
The fight was no play;
They had seared her young soul
With hard work's blight,
They made her the frail thing
That I found her that night.

We were married—and then,
Well, the story is old,
It was work hard and save
For our home, and gold;
She fought the fight bravely
For near twenty years,
And our home was assured
But gold brought us tears.

Well, now it is over;
The small hands are still
That helped me so long
In this world's treadmill;
All pain has departed,
Her troubles are past,
The wan little toiler
Is resting at last.

SOLDIER OF FORTUNE

That a kinsman of Edgar Allen Poe, enlisted in a Scotch regiment, should figure on a French battlefield in the course of a career as a "soldier of fortune," will make a special appeal to Frenchmen, who were first among Europeans to rate Poe, the story teller, as an artist to be ranked with the great. In the case of Poe the soldier, whose love of adventure had taken him into minor and major wars fought far from home, it is interesting to note that he showed his liking for conflict and strategy when a Princeton football "star." It was from among such that Theodore Roosevelt drew not a few of his aids and associates when he went to Cuba as a soldier. Football, as played in Poe's day by the big universities, trained men well for war's rudest shocks.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday; continued cool; heavy fog Friday morning; northeast winds.

Miss Maud Soper, 1305 N. Maryland avenue, Casa Verdugo, who has been in rather poor health for some time past, went Monday morning to the Alpine tavern, Mount Lowe, for a visit. She hopes to regain strength at that altitude.

A. P. Offutt of Glendale and David Kenkn of Los Angeles recently returned from a four days' outing at Big Bear Lake. They report a delightful auto trip but the hunting and fishing was poor, due to the very cold weather in that section.

Mr. Burch is an employe of the Las Vegas postal department.

Guests were most enjoyably entertained at dinner last evening by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bailey in their home at 1415 Lomita Avenue. A low mound of chrysanthemums brightened the table with covers laid for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith and Mrs. Fanning of Los Angeles.

Roses were the delicately fragrant blossoms used to grace the luncheon and dinner tables on Wednesday of this week, when Mrs. Geo. Adams of 1450 Ivy street had as her guests Mrs. Maurice Bartlett and Mrs. Frank Bartlett, both of Pasadena, the latter recently returned from an extended visit in New Jersey.

NOTICE OF APPEAL

Public notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale did at its meeting on the 8th day of November, 1915, fix the time and place for hearing of the appeal to said board against the diagram and assessment for the improvement of Canada boulevard on Monday evening at 8 p. m., November 15, 1915, in the council chamber at the City Hall, Glendale. Said appeal offers objections to said assessment on the grounds of not deriving sufficient benefit therefrom, and that said assessment is excessive.

J. C. SHERER,
City Clerk of the City of Glendale.

The United States treasury is short of dollar bills. But it is not alone in its dearth. Many a person and many an institution are experiencing the same kind of shortage.

CORRECTS MISTAKE

The publicity committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club desires to correct an error they made in reporting the Charter Day proceedings, The name of the representative of the Drama League should have been Mrs. Benjamin Goldman instead of Mrs. Lilian Burkhardt Goldsmith.

The Chamber of Commerce meeting Friday evening will be quite an interesting one. Important measures will be taken up. All are welcome. R. M. JACKSON, Secy.

STATEMENT BY PAUL SHOUP

"In view of the rumors as to the nature of the changes in Pacific Electric service, effective on the 14th inst., it is desirable to state that there is nothing in these changes radical enough adversely to affect the interests of the territories served.

"The Pacific Electric, like any other business institution, finds it necessary at times to trim its sails to meet weather conditions. This is an ordinary measure of business prudence. Such retrenchments as are to be made are based upon the principle that the public and the Pacific Electric can both get along without that service which is least used.

"The uncontrollable causes leading to existing conditions have of course affected the Pacific Electric, as they have other lines of business, adversely during the last two years, and the result in some sections have been quite accentuated by the competition of automobiles. Care has been taken, however, not to disturb the service essential to any community in the proposed changes.

"The communities interested have been advised or will be advised today what these changes are, and I believe we will have their co-operation in accepting and trying out the new schedules.

"So far as the future is concerned, it is only a question of time, and I trust no great time, until Southern California in a business way returns to normal conditions."

REGION OF ROMANCE

There is no spot on earth richer in romance than the broken, wooden upland between the winding waters of the Meuse and the Moselle, says a writer in My Magazine. Lovely as it is, this valley that has once again made history, a region of gray ravines, fantastic rocks and forested slopes, laced with silver streams and crowned with picturesque ruins of ancient castles, is even lovelier to us than nature has made it, for we see it through the eyes of Shakespeare, and through a haze of legend, story and poetry. Here it was that Orlando and Rosalind, from Shakespeare's "As You Like It," wandered singing beneath the trees and dancing with shepherds and herd girls on the greensward. Here came the gallant lords and laughing ladies of our great poet's pastoral play to act their comedy to the murmur of falling streams and the music of birds.

But long before Shakespeare's day the Ardennes forest was a land of romance. In the dim dawn of modern civilization, Charlemagne, the emperor of the western world, came here from his native Liege. Then, as Sir William Scott has told us, William de la Marck of Liege—called the "Wild Boar of the Ardennes"—made the forest famous by his exploits in the fifteenth century.

The people of the forest are charming folk to speak to, but it is difficult to understand what they say, for they talk an ancient kind of French that goes back to the days of Charlemagne, nearly 1200 years ago. Lost to the world in their deep rocky forest, where the stag and wild boar still range, they have kept to their old speech and their old ways, coming out of their natural fortress only when their religion or their liberty is threatened.

These people are called Walloons—a name given to them by the Germans. In their ways and manners they resemble the French, being an outlying part of the oldest element of the French nation.

POTATO RACE BY COWBOYS

A sport indulged in this year by the cowboys of the southwest at their annual meet is one which demands an exercise of much skill in horsemanship, says Popular Mechanics. It is played by eight mounted men; four on each side. At each goal is a small square box. In the middle of the field is a third case, which is filled with potatoes. The riders are provided with long, lancelike, sharp-pointed poles. At a signal they dash at the potato box, certain of them attempting to spear potatoes and plunge back to their goal boxes with them. At the same time the guards of one side endeavor to prevent the scoring of the other by blocking their opponents, preventing them from spearing a potato in the first place and—if one succeeds in doing so—by knocking the tuber from the lance. At the end of eight minutes the game is stopped, and the side having the greatest number of potatoes in its goal box wins.

FOOD VALUE OF VEGETABLES

Tomatoes contain iron and assist to arouse torpid liver. Lettuce has a soothing, quieting effect upon the nerves and is a remedy for insomnia. Celery is an acknowledged nerve tonic. Onions are also a tonic for the nerves. Potatoes should be eschewed by those who have a horror for getting fat. Spinach has medicinal properties equal to the most indigo of all blue pills ever made. Parsnips, it is contended by scientists, possess almost the virtues claimed for sarsaparilla. Asparagus is efficacious in kidney ai'ments. Cucumbers contain an acid that is helpful in some cases of dyspepsia, but beware of them if not fresh. Cabbage in Holland is regarded as something of a blood purifier. Parsley will assist good digestion, like cheese and nuts. Pumpkins are an ingredient in a certain patent medicine that is guaranteed to cure quite a variety of ailments that flesh is heir to, but the world is increasing in inhabitants who do not believe all they hear. Rhubarb, celery, lemons, sour orange and all other tart fruits are especially beneficial to those suffering from rheumatic troubles. Onions, celery and turnips relieve nervous disorders, onions being accounted the best nervine known. Digestion is promoted by the use of onions, tomatoes, olives, garlic and peanuts. HOW CLUB STARTED books were read, items of general interest were talked about, and many helpful ideas exchanged. The ambition to be in touch with other women's clubs developed. To gain recognition meant the dignity of regular organization This was accomplished in the friendly manner characteristic of all the club's actions by the unanimous selection of Mrs. F. Gilman Taylor as the first president of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale.

Of the original twelve, three are residents of Glendale today. Mrs. Joe Banker enjoys the distinction of being the only original member with a continuous membership.

Mrs. Parker, then Mrs. Duncan, aften an absence of twelve years, is again a willing captive to Glendale's charm.

Miss Judson Harris, though living a quiet life, reflects honor upon Glendale by her talents, as she is a composer of grand and beautiful music.

Little did the two women seking entertainment for themselves eighteen years ago dream that they would be the guests this afternoon of a club which by its achievements of the past, its activities of the present and ambitions for the future, holds its own with the best of clubdom. Every member from that date to this, by reason of pride in its success, can furnish some interesting item about her own connection with this club. Please allow the wr'ter of this little review to state that January 9th, 1898, was her birthday.

PUREE OF PEAS

Allow a pint of dry peas to soak in cold water over night. About four hours before lunch drain the cold water off and put the peas into a stewpan with two quarts of water. Let it come slowly to the boiling point. Add a saltspoonful of baking soda and simmer for three hours. Then press this through a vegetable presser and add two saltspoonfuls of salt and a dash of pepper. Rub two tablespoonfuls of butter with the same amount of flour; add to this a quart of boiling milk, and stir carefully over the fire until smooth. Then add this to the puree. Let it all come to the boiling point and serve with croutons. For these, cut white bread—preferably a day or so old—into cubes about three-quarers of an inch square. Place them in a pie pan and cook in a moderate oven until they are a golden brown.

WILD ANIMAL CIRCUS COMING

General Contracting Agent Wm. K. Peck of the Al. G. Barnes Wild Animal circus was here Tuesday arranging for the appearance of the Barnes show in Glendale on Tuesday, November 23.

"Wherein does the wild animal circus differ from the old-time regulation circus?" was asked.

"The Barnes circus is different because the entire entertainment offered is given by trained animals, largely wild animals," replied Mr. Peck.

"Al G. Barnes, the wild animal training wizard and proprietor of the Barnes shows, was the originator of the wi'd animal circus, launching the innovation nine years ago. That the new amusement met with approval from the public is attested by the fact that his circus now ranks as the largest animal show in the world."

"For thirty-five years Mr. Barnes has been a trainer of wild animals, and early in his career decided that the public would welcome an exclusive, clean wholesome entertainment given by educated animals, and to that purpose he bent his efforts. Every one of the 600 acting animals now with this great show, has been trained under his personal supervision—the greatest number assembled in one collection.

"Big, thrilling, sensational wild animal features predominate on the program—lions, tigers, leopards, jaguars pumas and bears being shown in great groups Twenty-four African lions appear in the arena at one time under one trainer's direction. Elephants, camels, zebras, seals, sea lions, kangaroos, dogs, goats, monkeys and a troupe of 550 beautiful horses and ponies are a part of this animal,acting aggregation.

"A many-sided man is our Mr. Barnes. He fondles the lions, tigers and bearns and, they answer his call as that of a friend. When they become unruly or 'go bad' Barnes becomes the trainer and reduces the beasts to a state of tractability again He is known as the only circus owner who can work any act in the show. Horses are his particular hobby and with his show can be seen some of the finest bred and best trained horses known to exist."

LOG MAKES A COZY CABIN

There is a cabin in Golden Gate park, San Francisco, which is constructed of a single log of redwood. It is about 12 feet long and rests upon a heavy platform of timber which supports a hollowed log. A doorway about five feet high and 18 inches wide admits visitors to the interior, which forms a fair-sized room. The appearance of the cabin is striking, says the Popular Science Monthly, because the front presents a cross section of a large redwood tree with the bark intact.

IT WOULD BE NEXT TO IMPOSSIBLE FOR A CHILD

To play one of Beethoven's sonatas on piano or violin after but one lesson. However, to expect just that is no more unreasonable than to expect one ad to bring enough business to pay for itself from the profits.

Occasionally a child has such genius or is endowed with so great a musical talent that it can play or even compose music with but few lessons, although most noted musicians devoted themselves assiduously to study.

Ocasionally a merchant advertises to give something away or advertises so great a value that one ad brings wonderful results, but usually advertising first attracts, then convinces and finally pulls a patron to your store, and should be persisted in, as it is often discontinued just as it starts to bring results.

Be reasonable in what you expect from an ad.

Put thought and money behind your advertising—advertise persistently and constantly, and your advertising will be productive of wonderful results.

"Newspaper Advertising" is acknowledged to be the cheapest and most productive advertising for the money invested—

The Glendale Evening News and the Tri-City Progress are the leading Newspapers in the San Fernando Valley. Your ad in either or both of these papers will inform their many readers of your business.

"Direct Advertising is perhaps the greatest Business Builder known." To do direct advertising you need printing—and Quality Printing may be had at most moderate prices at the
